

Artificial Intelligence is widely used in healthcare applications for disease prediction and medical diagnosis. Machine learning models help doctors analyze patient data efficiently. AI improves healthcare accuracy and reduces human effort