

Blockchain is a decentralized technology used for secure and transparent transactions. Data is stored in blocks connected through cryptographic methods. Blockchain is widely used in cryptocurrency and secure data sharing.